

Linda Nikaj, Esq.

Linda is a medical malpractice defense attorney in midtown Manhattan. Previously, Linda spent a decade with a litigation firm, where she worked on a range of cases, including cases involving medical malpractice, sexual assault, and other negligence matters. As a student, she held positions at the U.S. House of Representatives, Consulate General of Kosovo in New York, N.J. Criminal Court, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, U.S. Department of Justice, Legal Services of New Jersey, and the Immigration and International Human Rights Clinic at Seton Hall Law.

Linda also served as Adjunct Professor at Seton Hall University, where she taught Comparative Politics and U.S. Foreign Policy, and Teaching Assistant at Seton Hall University School of Law in the Leadership for Lawyers program.

Linda earned her Bachelor's Degree in Political Science from Baruch College, Master's Degree in International Relations and Diplomacy from Seton Hall University School of Diplomacy, and Juris Doctor Degree from Seton Hall University School of Law, where she was a Leadership Fellow. She is a member of various organizations, including the New York State Trial Lawyers' Association, New York City Bar Association, Albanian-American Bar Association, and Albanian Professional Entrepreneurs Network.

Linda is proud to be a first-generation lawyer and Albanian-American, as well as a Brooklynite. She gives back by volunteering with an immigration non-profit organization in her free time. She looks forward to serving future mentees.
